

Consumer Bankers Association vs Indiana Telephone Privacy; no company should have the right to contact someone at home at any time, unsolicited. That goes for companies that have an established business relationship with the consumer. I don't want my telephone ringing at any time, without exceptions.